ARRESTS 2003: LAW ENFORCEMENT RESPONSE TO CRIME IN THE SAN DIEGO REGION

INTRODUCTION

The Criminal Justice Research Division of the San Diego Association of Governments (SANDAG) functions as the Clearinghouse for criminal justice information in the region. On an annual basis, the Division prepares a report on local criminal justice agencies' response to crime in the region. Such information provides an added dimension to our bi-annual reports on crime statistics for understanding the nature of crime and an additional measure that can be used in justice system planning.

This CJ Bulletin includes regional arrest rates per 1,000 population, as well as numbers of arrests by offense type. Additional arrest rates and numbers for adults and juveniles by jurisdiction are available in 39 supplemental tables to this bulletin, which are posted on SANDAG's Criminal Justice Web site (www.sandag.org/cj).

TEN-YEAR ARREST TREND

In 2003, there were 42.9 adults arrested per 1,000 population, as Figure 1 shows. This arrest rate was slightly higher (3%) than it was in 2002 (41.8), but was still considerably lower than it was ten years ago (56.6). Since 1994, the adult arrest rate declined each year to a low of 41.5 in 2000, and has increased slightly since then (3%).

The arrest rate for juveniles, which is traditionally higher than for adults, has shown a slightly different pattern (Figure 1). With one exception (1997-1998), the juvenile arrest rate has declined each year, including the past three. In 2003, the juvenile arrest rate was 52.5 per 1,000 population age 10 to 17.

ADULTS AND JUVENILES

Even though juveniles have historically had a higher arrest rate compared to adults, it is important to note that many more adults are actually arrested. For example, on average, there were about 261 adults and 49 juveniles arrested each day in 2003.

As Figure 2 shows, there also are more arrests at the misdemeanor level, rather than the felony level, for both adults and juveniles. In 2003, there were 30,848 adult felony-level arrests and 64,547 misdemeanor-level arrests. For juveniles; these numbers were 5,009 and 9,898, respectively. In addition, there were 3,065 arrests for status offenses (for which only juveniles can be arrested).

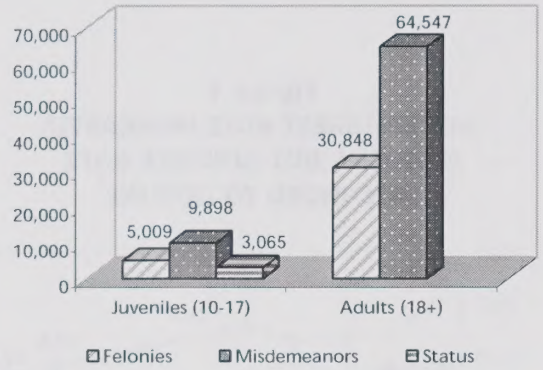
MOST ARRESTS ARE OF ADULTS FOR MISDEMEANOR LEVEL OFFENSES



SOURCES: California Department of Justice; SANDAG

As Figure 3 shows, while 16 percent of all individuals arrested in 2003 were juveniles, there was variation by crime type, with juveniles more likely to be arrested for weapons offenses (35%) and property offenses (27%), and less likely to be arrested for alcohol- and other drug-related offenses (5%).

ARRESTS BY OFFENSE TYPE

In 2003, there were a total of 95,395 adult arrests and 17,972 juvenile arrests. As Figure 4 shows, around half (51%) of adult arrests were for alcohol- or other drug-related violations. In comparison, juveniles were most likely to be arrested for an "other" or property-related offense, and just 16 percent of juvenile arrests were for alcohol- or other drug-related offenses (Figure 5).

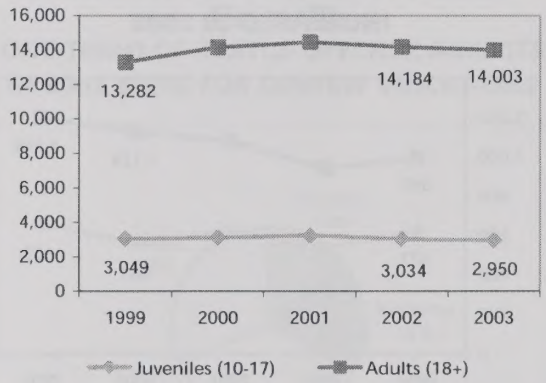
Violent Offenses

There were 14,003 adult and 2,950 juvenile arrests for violent offenses in 2003 (Figure 6). These numbers represent a one percent and three percent decrease, respectively, from 2002.

Figure 6
THERE WERE SLIGHTLY FEWER ARRESTS FOR VIOLENT OFFENSES IN 2003, COMPARED TO 2002



SOURCES: California Department of Justice; SANDAG

Violent offenses include four felony-level offenses (homicide, rape, robbery, and aggravated assault) and two misdemeanor-level offenses (manslaughter and assault/battery). The most notable change over the past year was in the number of adult arrests for homicide, which increased 47 percent (from 89 in 2002 to 131 in 2003). There also were more juveniles arrested for homicide in 2003, compared to 2002 (6 versus 11).

Property Offenses

The number of adult arrests for property offenses increased more than any other offense type between 2002 and 2003. Property offenses include burglary, larceny, and motor vehicle theft at the felony level, and petty theft and burglary at the misdemeanor level. In 2003, there were 10,143 adults arrested for a property offense, which represented an 11 percent increase from 2002 (Figure 7). For adults, arrests for motor vehicle theft were primarily responsible for this trend, increasing 76 percent, from 994 in 2002 to 1,747 in 2003.

In contrast, the 3,746 juvenile property offense arrests represented a very small decline from 2002 of one percent. However, it is worth noting that while juvenile arrests for burglary, larceny, and petty theft decreased, arrests for motor vehicle theft actually increased 13 percent (from 359 in 2002 to 404 in 2003).

Alcohol- and Other Drug-Related Offenses

In 2003, there were over 50,000 adult and juvenile arrests for an alcohol- and other drug-related offense (Figure 8). This equates to almost six drug arrests every hour of every day. For adults, the number of arrests increased from one year earlier while, for juveniles, there was a slight decrease.

Of the 48,865 adult arrests for alcohol and other drugs made during 2003, the greatest number (16,014) were for driving under the influence. For youth under 18, the most common arrest type in this category related to marijuana charges, rather than driving under the influence. Juvenile arrests for driving under the influence actually declined by four percent from 2002 to 2003. However, a disturbing trend for youth emerged, with the number of juvenile arrests for dangerous drugs (which includes methamphetamine) increasing 21 percent, from 152 to 184.

Weapons Violations

There were 1,199 adult arrests and 659 juvenile arrests for weapons violations in 2003 (Figure 9). Between 2002 and 2003, juvenile arrests for weapons-related offenses were the only category to increase for youth (16%), compared to the other arrest categories (e.g., violent, property, etc.).

Other Offenses

In 2003, "other" offenses represented about one in five (22%) adult arrests and one in four (26%) juvenile arrests (Figures 4 and 5). The most common types of "other" offense included violating a city or county ordinance and disturbing the peace. There were 21,185 adults and 4,747 juveniles arrested in the "other" category in 2003. These numbers represented a four percent increase and an eight percent decrease, respectively, from 2002.

Status Offenses

There were 3,065 status offense arrests in 2003, which represented a decline of 20 percent from 2002. In 2003, curfew violations comprised about one-third (35%) of these arrests, followed by runaway behavior and truancy (Figure 10). There were also 990 "other" status offense arrests, which included failing to obey orders of the Juvenile Court and incorrigible behavior.

HOW DOES SAN DIEGO COMPARE TO THE STATE AND OTHER CALIFORNIA COUNTIES?

In 2003, San Diego County had the second highest adult arrest rate (42.9) and the third highest juvenile arrest rate (52.5), compared to the other four largest counties in California (Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino, and Santa Clara). The respective rates for the state as a whole were 47.3 for adults (which represented a 2% increase from 2002) and 50.8 for juveniles (which represented a 5% decrease).

THINGS TO REMEMBER WHEN INTERPRETING THESE NUMBERS

- Similar to how the FBI counts reported crimes, the offense or charge attributed to an arrest may reflect only the most serious out of a number of violations included in the case.
- Arrests are documented by the location at which the arrest occurred and cannot be assumed to have any relationship to the location of the residence of the alleged offender.
- Arrest and crime rates and numbers should not be compared to one another. One reason is that the two events may occur in two entirely different periods of time, with an arrest made months or even years after the related crime has been reported.
